How do you know if a child is developing typically?

At 3 months, a child typically:

- follows objects with eyes
- responds to loud sounds
- smiles
- makes cooing sounds

At 6 months, a child typically:

- knows familiar faces
- plays with toes
- babbles
- sits with support

At 12 months, a child typically:

- pulls to standing position
- crawls to hands and knees
- places toys in a container
- says one or two words

At 18 months, a child typically:

- pulls off shoes and socks
- stacks blocks
- turns the pages of a book
- walks without help
- follows simple directions

At 2 years, a child typically:

- says sentences
- recognizes pictures
- plays alone
- runs
- identifies parts of a face

At 3 years, a child typically:

- rides a tricycle
- opens doors
- is toilet trained
- hops on one foot
- plays with other children

If you think your child is not developing typically...

Child Find can help...

Child Find can help people up to age 21 with disabilities who have not been identified. Some of the signals are:

- under achievement
- careless errors
- disorganized
- refusal to do school work
- slow performance

If you notice some of these signs, ask that your child be evaluated for learning disabilities.

All children need an education, but some children need a special education. They are special children. They are children with disabilities.
