

Make Behavioral Health Accessible to Your Patients

Elemy

2023

Our Mission

To provide life-changing mental health care for every child in need

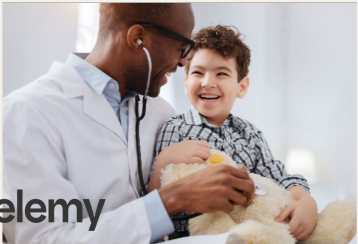

Current Crisis

With over 7,524 children with autism in Dallas...

& only 3,101 BCBA's in the state of Texas...

There aren't enough behavioral health providers in all of Texas to serve your city.

There is a crisis in pediatric mental health care...

Long waitlists

36%

of Americans live in areas experiencing mental health care provider shortages.

The need for mental health care is greatly outpacing additions to the workforce.

Challenging Care Navigation

of children in need receive treatment from a mental health care provider.

The effort it takes to navigate a complicated care landscape puts added stress on parents and caregivers.

Insufficient Networks

30%

of psychologists do not accept insurance.

If families are fortunate enough to find a behavioral health provider, they are often out-of-network and rely on expensive cash-pay services.

Our clinical staffing model rapidly unlocks the access needed to provide scalable outcomes

1.

Flexible staffing engagements

Our virtual marketplace offers clinicians the freedom to see Elemetry clients on their own time, accelerating access to care for our clients without long wait times

Innovative hiring models

In addition to hiring across the entirety of FL for virtual care, we have the organizational capabilities and track record of alleviating clinician supply constrained markets via creative solutions like cross-state licensing and internal training programs

3.

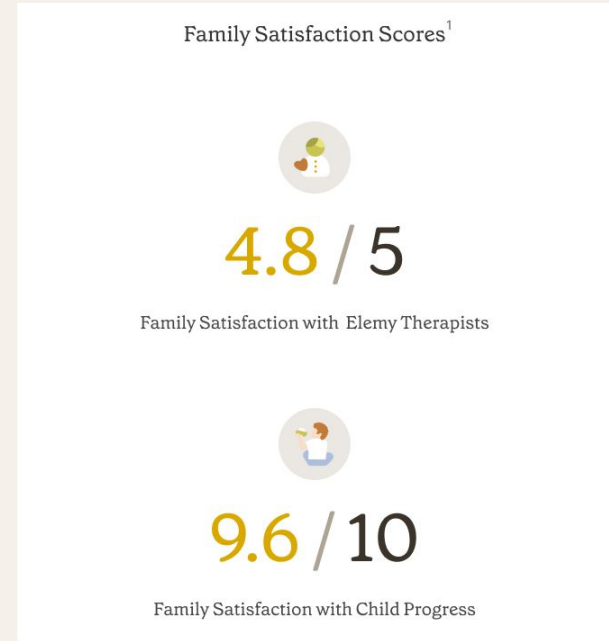

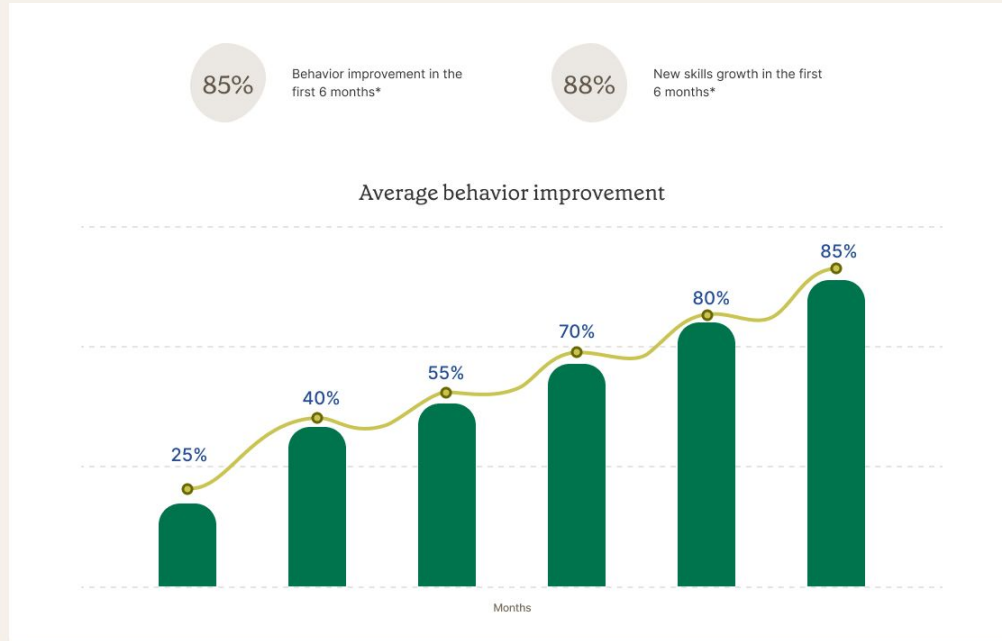

Standardized clinical guidance protocols

Our evidence based approach enables Elemetry therapists to deliver high quality outcomes through standardized protocols

Elemy created a mental health platform to address these problems, so families do not have to compromise access for outcomes

Our combination of clinical excellence, family-centered care, and technology innovation leads to better outcomes — and exceptional parent satisfaction
